Celebrating All Things Peranakan

The Intan is an award-winning, Culture Pass-approved private Peranakan home museum. Founded in 2003, it is a Peranakan heritage house and museum located in the Joo Chiat/Katong neighborhood of Singapore. It is not a typical museum, but the lived-in home of its founder, Alvin Yapp, a passionate collector and preservationist.

"Intan" means "rose-cut diamond" in Malay, symbolizing something precious and unique, and reflecting the home's treasured collection.

The museum houses a meticulously curated collection of over 1,500 Peranakan antiques and artifacts—including porcelain, furniture, textiles, and jewellery—displayed within a traditional shophouse in the heart of the historic Peranakan district.

The Intan offers an intimate, personal, and authentic insight into Peranakan culture, in contrast to larger, more formal museums.

Visits are by appointment only and include a guided tour personally led by Alvin Yapp, whose passionate and educational storytelling brings the experience to life. Guests are also treated to delicious homemade Peranakan kueh (cakes) and tea, offering a deep dive into Straits Chinese culture, its history, and its aesthetics.

This premium, boutique cultural experience is highly recommended for visitors with a genuine interest in history, culture, and antiques, especially those seeking something more personal Peranakan experience
